Questions? Concerns?

Your child's teacher is your best source of information and remains your primary contact for any questions or concerns.

Check on plans for virtual office hours, preferred communication formats, and availability. Because of busy schedules, a huge amount of email messages, and the many virtual meetings that are a part of the at-home learning teacher's day, you may not receive an immediate response. Please be patient, knowing that the teacher's top priority is the learning and well-being of students. Communication is a vital part of the parent-teacher partnership that supports your child's learning.
